

A CONVERSATION ABOUT THE US-JAPAN ALLIANCE: FROM GEOPOLITICS TO GRASSROOTS

Featuring RADM Ret. James Kelly and Sheila A. Smith, Ph.D.

Presented by CIE-US:

In Partnership with:

Hear and Discuss

The alliance between Japan and the US continues to shape global policies and local communities. Listen in to a conversation between RADM Ret. James Kelly, who served as Commander, Naval Forces Japan, from 2005-2009, and Dr. Sheila A. Smith, senior fellow for Japan Studies at the Council on Foreign Relations. Both have voices of experience regarding the geopolitical implications of the US-Japan alliance and a deep respect for the relationships and grassroots energies that undergird the alliance. Bring your questions and comments to this timely conversation as both nations - and their citizens - build our alliance through new challenges.

This event is free and open to the public.
